Welcoming Back Our Musician....

Lindsay Lundquist was born and raised in Enderby and has been involved with music as long as she can remember. "My mom says: "I could sing in French before I could ever talk!" Lindsay studied piano, and later voice, as well as singing in local churches, schools and at other public functions. After one year of university, she began teaching piano and voice, and singing in bands and duos. In 1988 she began working for Maz and Me's Revue Theatre Restaurant in Vernon, first as accompanist, then on stage. Lindsay moved to Vancouver when Maz opened a dinner theatre there, and performed with Maz for 11 years.

Lindsay returned to the Okanagan in 2000 after her husband passed away while she was pregnant with their second child. She became the choir director at Saint Andrew's United Church, then added pianist to her duties, and then secretary as well. She teaches voice and piano and also works at Cliffview Recording Studio. She has written a number of songs, including the theme song for the 1991 B.C. Summer Games in Coquitlam, the theme song for the 1997 B.C. Special Olympics, and most recently won a song-writing contest for the Shuswap Singers choir in honour of their 50th anniversary.

Lindsay's other passion is writing/producing/directing/participating in original dinner theatres as fundraisers for MacKenzie Camp. She has a play on the first weekend of May every year at Saint Andrew's U.C. in Enderby!
